

Sketch Map of the Mojave Desert

In every issue of Discover Minerals reference will be made to the region of the Mojave Desert in regard to location of various mines, sites, mineral localities, etc. These regions are divided somewhat arbitrarily into North, South West, Central, South Central, and Eastern (which in turn is divided into areas A, B, and C). This sketch map, though very rough and not intended to be geographically accurate, provides a general conceptualization of the focus area. The appropriate map below will be found at the beginning of any pertinent article.
